Before, when I was on the street, I always looked at the children sniffing solvent and would say to myself that I wouldn't do that. I did not keep my promise to myself. I learnt to use solvent and to steal and used to do that all the time. But then one day I realized that what I was doing was wrong and that if I kept doing it I would destroy my dreams.

Because of my vices and stealing, I lost my parents because I did not look after them and I cannot forgive myself.

One day an opportunity came along for me to make big changes through the help of Bahay Tuluyan. Because of them I can now go to school. I have realized that it is fun to study because I can learn so much and maybe I can share this with other people. Now, little by little, I am achieving my dreams to become a famous painter.

Thanks to Bahay Tuluyan for opening doors me and accepting me as part of their family.
